NEAR-NEWS AND CHATTER FOR SATURDAY NIGHT

To the lady first correctly guessing the identity of the person of whom the following is a character sketch, and bringing a copy of this paper to The Tribune office, a cash prize of $1.00 will be given. The subject of the sketch is a prominent citizen of La Crosse. After winning one prize, a contestant will not be eligible to again compete for a period of three months.

Rev. Sam McKee was the subject of last week's "Guess Who's Here" contest, the winner being Mrs. Cox of Onalaska.

He's the little brother of the great, but he's prospered in the shadow of greatness, and if he is looming toward greatness himself it isn't because he has waited to have greatness thrust upon him. In brief, he's regarded as logical. While he is not over communicative, but keeps his own counsel, a great many other people take it. He's one of those fair-minded democrats who are rejoicing because, at last, he can vote for a progressive who is not a republican. In a hike he'd make Edward Payson Weston hit the summits. He's held every democratic office in the county to which there's no salary attached, because in his simplicity of faith he never drives a bargain before delivering his support. He wears his share of wool, and so, paradoxically, he is a wolfe in sheep's clothing and a good fellow.

It is a tradition in La Crosse that Judge E. C. Higbee began at the bottom of the ladder. Last Sunday he began at the top.

His Honor had dropped into the courthouse, locking the door to the main entrance on the inside. He then tered his private office, tossed the keys upon the table, and attended to his errand. This concluded, the judge stepped into the corridor and closed the door of his private office tightly behind him.

Shall we say Judge Higbee tripped down the corridor to the main entrance, or that he strode with dignity to the portals, or how shall we, who didn't see him, describe his recessional? Anyway, he arrived, and found he had left his keys on his office desk, from which the office door with its spring lock separated him. The transom was impossible. His Honor was locked in, with no way even to reach a telephone.

The door to the basement, where the sheriff's office is located, was locked, but by beating upon it Judge Higbee attracted the attention of Undersheriff Omerberg. The latter had no keys, but he got busy with the telephones and sought to locate a good natured official who had. One and all, they told him where to head in, which didn't help the judge to head out.

Finally, upon advice of counsel, Louie procured a stepladder and placed it at the corridor window, and Judge E. C. Higbee thereupon gave an excellent imitation of a retreating porch climber. But stealth availed not to still the tongue of idleness, and if you'll swear never to tell who told you, any of the "courthouse bunch" will tell you.

Ray Hiscox, for years prominent in the insurance business in La Crosse and now state agent of the National Insurance company of Hartford, Conn., was born in La Crosse and received his education in the public schools of this city. In 1897 he abandoned his school studies, although he had not yet completed his high school course, to take up the insurance business and procured a position with the insurance firm of McGill and Burke. He remained in the employ of this firm for one year when he resigned to take part in the Spanish-American war. During the greater part of the war he was with Company M in Porto Rico.

Upon his return he resumed his duties with the firm of McGill and Burke and shortly after accepted a position with the Mutual Church Insurance company of Chicago, which had been organized by Mr. McGill. A year later Mr. Hiscox resigned to accept a position with the Withee, Burke & Borresen firm of La Crosse and about four years ago became a member of the firm upon the retirement of Mr. Burke.

About three years ago he became an agent for the National Insurance company of Hartford and in 1910 was appointed as state agent of this company. Mr. Hiscox now resides in Milwaukee.

TAKE UP LORIMER CASE IN SENATE

Vote Soon to Be Taken on Eligibility of Illinoisan to Place in Upper House

MAJORITY IS AGAINST HIM

Poll of Senators Shows Fifty Against the Blonde Boss to Forty for Him

WASHINGTON, July 6.—When prayer was over and routine business had been disposed of in the senate today, William Lorimer of Illinois, again faced a battle over his right to a seat in the senate. March 1, 1911, the senate voted 46 to 40 to retain him as a member. Defeat today would mean that in the judgment of a majority of senators, the "blonde boss," acquired his seat in the senate by "corrupt methods, and practices," and with that condemnation in the event he loses, he will be driven back to private life in Chicago.

Such a case, involving the standing of a member is a question of the highest privilege in the senate. Upon June 8, 1912, the upper house, by unanimous consent, decided to take up the representatives of the Lorimer investigating committee on the legislative day of July 6. A legislative day in senatorial fiction, may run for any number of calendar days, but until the final vote that will decide the fate of Lorimer is taken, no other question can be taken up by the senate.

Senate Has Changed

Great changes have taken place in the membership of the senate since Lorimer won his fight in 1911. Many of the stand-patters, from whom his strength was mainly recruited, have been retired to private life. They have been succeeded by a younger class of senators, to whom historic "senatorial courtesy" is not a fetish.

Polls taken and generally accepted as being accurate, hold no hope for Lorimer. That view was so strong that Vice President Sherman made a special trip to Chicago several months ago to advise Lorimer to resign. The arguments in favor of his retirement were that he could avert what appeared to be certain defeat, and, moreover, save his senatorial friends embarrassment by not requiring them to line up for him again. Many of the senators who voted for Lorimer in 1911 were retired mainly because of that vote.

Polls recently taken show not less than fifty senators against the "blonde boss" and not more than forty in his favor. A majority in the senate is forty-eight. There is no possible gauge by which the time of the final vote may be even approximated. A number of senators said today that it might come next week, but the general impression was that it would be much later.

Story of Election

Lorimer was elected senator on May 26, 1909, following a long deadlock in the Illinois legislature. A coalition of republican and democratic forces accomplished his election. A year later several members of that legislature signed confessions alleging that they had been paid for their votes. Later charges revealed a "slush fund" to "put Lorimer over" to which big corporations were invited to contribute.

In all the various investigations to date, Lorimerites have vigorously denied any corrupt practices in the senatorial election.

Dillingham Goes Over Case

Senator Dillingham of Vermont, who, as chairman of the privileges and elections committee was chairman of the committee which investigates Lorimer's election was the first speaker. He analyzed in detail the evidence in the case.

Late in the afternoon Lorimer appeared on the floor and listened attentively to Dillingham. At one time he interrupted the speaker to explain why Speaker Shurtleff of the Illinois assembly, supported Foss and not Hopkins for the senatorship. The reason was, Lorimer said, that a written agreement had been made that the candidate who carried Shurtleff's district should receive his vote. Foss carried the district, two to one.

McCumber Defends Boss

Senator McCumber(Rep., N. D.,) spoke at length in defense of Lorimer. He disputed the right of the senate and re-try a senator on the same charges. The present movement against Lorimer is nothing but "political murder," McCumber said.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 6.—With the last hope of equal suffrage crushed for t wo years to come the eleventh biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs came to a close today with a meeting of the new board of directors, and the general council, at the call of Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, newly elected president.

Suffrage was finally "steam rollered" last night when Miss Alice Henry, suffragist editor of Chicago, made a motion to endorse the work Susan B. Anthony.

After it was seconded and before any discussion could take place, Mrs. Phillip N. Moore, the retiring president, quickly said: "This is the president's evening. I refer the motion to the press," and immediately recognized the next speaker of the evening.

The delgates are departing by hundreds today and tonight, most of the three thousand delegates and visitors will have started homeward. The exodus began last night when a special train bearing the New York delegation left for the east via Seattle.

WOREING FOR HANFORD

CONGRESSMAN M'COY ALLEGES INTERESTS ARE BEING BROUGHT TO BEAR TO SAVE SEATTLE JUDGE

SEATTLE, Wash., July 6.—The direct charge that certain interests of Seattle are attempting to hamper congressional committee investigating the impeachment charges against Judge Cornelius Hanford has been made by Congressman McCoy.

McCoy's sensational accusations resulted from the testimony given by Charles F. Peterson, a timber land owner. Peterson testified he had seen Judge Hanford drunk on several occasions and related three in particular. He was corroborated as to one of these occasions by W. H. Hyatt, a barber, Peterson then stated that he had given his information unwillingly to Chairman Graham and Congressman McCoy the night before.

McCoy brought out the fact that Peterson was finally induced to give testimony that both business men and lawyers had shown marked unwillingness to testify to for some reason.

LA CROSSE COUNTY DEMOCRATS SPLIT

County Convention Opens with Factional Fight Over Karel and Aylward

MAY DRAFT COUNTY TICKET

Local Men to Announce Candidacy This Afternoon; Will Pick State Delegates

Two distinct factions developed in the ranks of the democrats of La Crosse county just before the convention opened in the city hall this afternoon. One faction was openly boosting the candidacy of J. C. Karel of Milwaukee for governor and the other was lined up solidly for John A. Aylward, Madison, Wis. Although there was no way of getting a conclusive line on the situation it is expected that a warm fight will be made by both factions to get their candidate endorsed in the resolutions.

There is also a strong sentiment for W. F. Wolfe of La Crosse for either the governorship or for attorney general but this is being discouraged by his brother, who says he is not in a receptive mood for any state office. If Wolfe would say the word there is no question that the entire La Crosse delegation would go to Milwaukee prepared to boost his candidacy.

The convention was called for the purpose of electing twenty-one delegates to the state convention in Milwaukee, and for the adoption of resolutions and "such other business" as may be brought to the attention of the convention. It is expected that the "other business" will be the naming of a county ticket with "harmony" for the principal plank in the platform. About fifty democrats prominent in county politics were on hand to help shape the destinies of the state.

Assemblyman E. J. Kneen, chairman of the county committee, motored from Bangor, arriving at the city hall at 2:30. The convention was called to order by Chairman Kneen immediately. John Doherty was nominated and elected chairman of the convention. John Moe of West Salem was elected secretary. The election 'of delegates was commenced and proceeded as follows: J. L. Utermoehl, La Crosse; Louis Sands, West Salem; P. W. Mahoney, La Crosse; E. J. Kneen, Bangor; John Doherty, La Crosse; C. J. Burns, La Crosse; Michael McHugh, La Crosse; Fred Garbers, Holland; A. C. Wolfe, La Crosse; W. F. Wolfe, La Crosse; A. H. Schubert, La Crosse; C. A. Langenbach; Will Flauge, town of Barre; John Soukup; B. A. Moe, West Salem; J. B. Murray, La Crosse; R. W. Davis, Bangor; John C. Burns, La Crosse; Wm. Fries, La Crosse; F. W. Fox, La Crosse.

It was voted to instruct each delegate to name his own alternate, and in the event the full delegation did not attend the convention, the vote of the majority was to count as the vote of the full delegation.

A resolution providing that Wilson clubs be organized in every voting precinct of the county was introduced by Assemblyman Kneen. The resolution was adopted.

P. W. Mahoney moved that the democrats of the county work for a plank in the state platform favoring the repeal of the state income tax. O. R. Skaar made an appeal for the income tax, saying that although the present law is unsatisfactory, it can be amended so as to fill the requirements of democratic principles. Assemblyman Kneen declared against going on record against an income tax law. He said that it would undoubtedly be amended in the next legislature.

The motion was withdrawn, the convention refusing to go on record as favoring the repeal of the law.

Trempealeau for Karel

Declaring for repeal of the income tax, and directing their delegates to vote for Judge John C. Karel, the Trempealeau democratic convention met July 4 in Arcadia. The resolutions adopted are as follows:

"We, the democrats of Trempealeau county in mass convention assembled, hereby pledge anew our faith in the people, and proclaim our confidence in the rule of the many and in the permanence of constitutional government; that we favor sober, sound and honest government economically administered in nation, state and locally; that we are opposed to the dominance of politicians and the rule of officeholders; that we believe with the good old revolutionary Fathers, and the framers of the constitution, that there should be an entire separation and divorcement of all private business and government favoritism and legislation; that the tariff should be immediately reduced by schedule and in such manner as to allow business to adjust itself to live without the special legislative favor of protective tariff laws; that we favor a national income tax upon all incomes above $2,000, and we demand the repeal of the annoying state income tax law passed by the legislature in 1911; that we favor tne repeal of all un-

Father Starts Bluff; Court Finishes It

Judge C. L. Baldwin refused to allow county court to be used as a parental slipper for the chastisement of a disobedient son when he declined to dismiss the case against Lester Schaefer, age 20, brought by his father, Anton Schaefer, 311 South Third street, today.

The boy was accused by his father of stealing the family automobile and using it for joy riding against his wishes. As the result of repeated offenses he had the boy arrested. On his arrival in court this morning, however, he had visions of a fine which he would have to pay and he decided that the "bluff" ad been carried far enough.

"I guess we had better dismiss the case, Judge," he said. "The boy has had his scare and promises that he will not do it again."

"I guess differently," said Judge Baldwin. "The police were sent out to arrest your boy on your complaint and this court was called to settle the trouble. This is what we intend to do. I fine him $5 and costs." The father dug up the $9 and with his son left the court room.

CONCEDE MEET TO AMERICANS

Spectators Astonished at Showing Made by U. S. Athletes in 100 Meter Run

LOWER THE OLYMPIC RECORD

Donald Lippincott of University of Pennsylvania Takes 1-5 of Second Off Mark

STOCKHOLM, July 6. — After watching the Americans perform in the opening events of the Olympic games here today the vast audience conceded the honors of the meet to the athletes from Yankeeland. Their work was a revelation to the majority of the spectators, and when the events concluded five of the visiting over-seas contestants had qualified for the finals in the hundred meter dash to be held tomorrow.

Donald F. Lippincott of the University of Pennsylvania, was the hero of the day. He hung up a new Olympic record for the 100 meter distance of 10 3-5 seconds. This equals the world's record, and so easily did the American win that it was generally believed he would be returned the ultimate victor in tomorrow's final contests.

The five Americans who qualified for the final struggle tomorrow were: Lippincott, F. Y. Belote of the Chicago A. A.; Howard P. Drew, Springfield, Mass., high school; Alvah T. Meyer, Irish-American Athletic club, whose expenses were paid by his club after he had been passed over by the Olympic commission and, Ralps C. Craig of the Detroit Y. M. C. A. The prowess of the Americans came home in seventeen preliminary hundred meter contests nine Americans came home in front. As was expected Sweden retained the honors for throwing the javelin. Lameing, the crack, winning easily with a throw of 68½ yards, a new world's record.

OLYMPIC IS AGROUND

GREAT WHITE STAR LINER STICKS IN MUD OF NEW YORK HARBOR TODAY

NEW YORK, July 6.—The great White Star Olympic went aground in the upper bay near Ellis Island this afternoon, when forced to change her course to avoid running down the steam yacht Viking. She was floated at 2 o'clock.

The liner grounded at flood tide, but was not in a dangerous position. The bottom where the Olympic struck is mud and not rock. Tugs were sent to her assistance and an effort made to back her into the channel. The Olympic's steering gear was put out of order by the effort to make a sudden turn. Eight tugs were working on her and the White Star officials said she would soon be clear. The Olympic, which was outbound, was drawing 34 feet 6 inches of water aft the deepest draft of any ship that ever left this port.

TWENTY-TWO ARE KILLED IN WRECK

Stub Train on Ligonier Valley Line Is Hit by Double-header Freight

EVERY HOME IN MOURNING

Scarcely a House in Little Town Which Does Not Have a Victim in the Wreck

LIGONIER, Pa., July 6.—Twenty-two persons were killed and eight others were fatally injured when a heavy double header freight train crashed into the rear end of a passenger on the Ligonier Valley line near here yesterday. The list of less seriously injured is placed at forty.

The passenger train was returning to this town after having taken out a crowd of picnickners. There was but one coach attached to the engine, a combination baggage car and passenger affair. The Ligonier Valley line is but ten miles long, a feeder for the Pennsylvania system.

Employes Demoralized

The employes of the ten mile railroad were demoralized by the conditions with which they had to cope and the Pennsylvania railroad officials stepped in with cars and crews and tabulated the list of dead and injured, furnishing medical assistance and hospital supplies to the grief stricken valley.

The lone passenger coach was being pushed up the tracks filled with men, women and children, many of them on their way home, after a holiday trip. Into this crowded coach crashed the double header freight train.

Almost every family in town was affected by the disaster and every home became a hospital or feverishly aided in caring for the injured, many of whom were little children returning from a romp in the woods, and carrying wild flowers gathered during the day.

The Wilpen branch is an outlet for the mines of the Wilpen Coal company and one passenger train, a coach and an engine, made two trips over the ten miles of road every day, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. It was during the afternoon trip that the accident happened.

Nurse Heroine

The train was coming up the slight slope of the mountain, carrying its human freight, happy after a day spent in the woods and the children had gathered around Miss Esther M. Mathews, a nurse who had in special care several youngsters of Henry Roddy, manager of the McCane Supply company, at Ligonier, at one end of the car.

Miss Mathews, talking and laughing with the children, looked out of the rear door of the car and saw a long freight train bearing down upon them. She realized a crash could not be avoided and threw the two children nearest her in the baggage compartment near the front end of the car. A moment later she clasped two more of the children in her arms and ran toward the front end of the car, and then the heavy freight with two engines crashed through the flimsy day coach.

Miss Mathews was buried along with the other passengers under a mass of wreckage, but refused to be rescued from beneath the heavy timbers until her little charges were taken care of. Today she lies at the Allegheny General hospital in Pittsburg, where she recentiy completed a course in nursing.

KILLED ON HER HONEYMOON TRIP

Auto Overturns at Mabel, Minn., and Recent Bride Is Crushed to Death

CALEDONIA, Minn., July 6.—Mrs. Christ Scanlon of Peoria, Ill., who, together with her husband, was on her honeymoon trip, met with almost instant death five miles this side of Mabel, Minn., yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding struck a pole in a bad place in the road and turned turtle. The machine turned completely over, the rear part of the auto striking Mrs. Scanlon. Although she was not immediately killed, she was dead before she could get out from under the car.

Mr. and Mrs. Scanlon were on their way to Dorchester, Ia., in an automobile and when they had reached a point about five miles this side of Mabel they struck a poor place in the road where there was a pole. They didn't notice this in time and ran into it before it could be avoided. Mrs. Scanlon made an effort to avoid an accident and sne was trying to assist her husband in getting away but the machine turned over and caused her death. Her husband escaped uninjured with the exception of a few scratches and minor bruises. Mr. and Mrs. Scanlon had relatives at Dorchester, wnere they were going to visit with them. Mr. Scanlon was driving the auto. When the auto turned turtle, Mr. Scanlon was also thrown in under the macnine but he escaped serious injury.

DOG IS VICTIM OF FRIDAY HEAT

Cocker Spaniel Belonging to O. W. Muenster Develops Case of Rabies

Bob, a pretty cocker spaniel belonging to Otto Muenster, 511 South Twelfth street, was the first victim of rabies reported in La Crosse. Bob fell a victim to the heat of yesterday.

Mr. Muenster, accompanied by his wife, was approaching the river preparatory to taking a launch to Ferndale when the spaniel, upon seeing the water, began to run about in circles and bark wildly. It then turned and ran to the plant of the Sta-Rite Engine company, dashing itself repeatedly against the building.

Finally the crazed animal leaped through the office window, creating a near-panic among the clerks; it ran from the office through the shipping department and machine shops, out upon the platform and into the shipping office.

Mr. Muenster followed, and succeeded in locking the dog in a room. It was watched for half an hour, but it continued to revolt at the sight of water, and finally frothed at the mouth. The fact that it had a pronounced case of rabies having been established, it was promptly relieved from further suffering.

The spaniel, which was a family pet, made no attempt to bite any of the numerous people whom it approached.

If he succeeds in doing this, it is believed that he will be able to harass the government forces for years. Accompanying Orozco's troops were members of the rebel legislature.

Governor Has Pledges of Aid from Tammany and Even from Missouri Delegation

REPUBLICANS TO BACK HIM

Many of Telegrams to Jersey Executive Pledging Assistance from Prominent G. O. P. Men

SEA GIRT, N. J., July 6.—With pledges of whole hearted support in his hands from Tammany hall, the Missouri delegation that fought to the last ditch at Baltimore for Champ Clark, and from every other faction in the party, Governor Wilson was certain today that he will have a united party at his back during the coming campaign.

Republicans Pledge Aid

In addition he is in receipt of numerous pledges of support from leading republican sources, especially from the states where the progressive sentiment in the ascendency. Governor Marshall's telegram announcing that at least one-tenth of his telegrams were from republicans who pledge support to the democratic national ticket in the coming campaign was no surprise to the governor as he is likewise in receipt of similar assurances.

That Tammany hall and the New York state democrats who fought his nomination to the final ballot will give loyal support to the ticket, was made certain by the declaration made to the governor by Senator O'Gorman of New York, incidentally, it is already certain that the junior senator will be recognized by Governor Wilson as the New York state leader. There will be no interference with Murphy as boss of Tammany, but in matters that have to do with the state at large, it will be O'Gorman and not Murphy that will be called for consultation.

Bryan Will Stump

Bryan will take the stump for the governor. He has already arranged to confer with Wilson when the latter goes to Chicago on July 15 for the meeting of the national committee. At that time it will be decided whether the commoner and candidate will make a joint tour of the country. It is generally believed that this plan will be followed as many of the national leaders believe it would greatly strengthen the party in the far western states.

Former Senator James Smith and James Nugent, Wilson's most bitter enemies in his own state, are expected to visit the governor with the other members of the state delegation next Monday. At that time it is expected that the feud that has existed since Wilson prevented Smith from being elected to the United States senate will be healed.

A WOMAN LOST HER HAIR AND GOT IT BACK WITH HERPICIDE

While there are no thrills in the narration of Mrs. P. T. Nichols, 623 Broad street, Beloit, Wis., her story is nevertheless one of amazing interest. "Stricken with neuralgia and erysipelas, I lost all my hair. My doctor recommended Newbro's Herpicide. I used six or eight bottles and now have a fine head of slightly curly light brown hair. Not a gray hair in my head. This is the more remarkable as I am middle-aged."

While the results which follow the use of Newbro's Herpicide are always more or less astonishing, they are always natural. Herpicide destroys the dandruff germ, stimulates the flow of blood to the hair follicles and keeps the scalp perfectly healthy. It makes possible a natural and luxuriant growth of hair, except in cases of chronic baldness.

While remedies said to be "every bit as good" as Newbro's Herpicide are frequently offered, one should insist upon having the original germ destroyer, Herpicide. That is genuine. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Applications may be obtained at good barber shops. Send 10c in postage for sample to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

AMERICAN SOLDIER THE BEST

World's Records for Marksmanship All His, and He Is Trained to Act on His Own Initiative.

If there is one big, distinguishing trait of the United States regular, it is individuality. In every one of the great foreign military nations, particularly Germany and Japan, batallion and company officers and enlisted men are carefully trained not to think for themselves. They are used as mere chess pieces under the guidance of a master mind. In this country, where our melting pot has yielded us an extraordinary self-reliant, cool thinking, intensive initiative product, it is only natural that our soldiers should be trained as are our civilians.

The United States army spends annually on rifle target practice five times the sum spent by any other army of an equal number of men. This applies, too, to our field and coast artillery. As a result, no better marksmen can be found than the American soldier and his cousin, the national guardsman, who is trained along the same lines. Every world's fire control and accuracy record with rifle and big gun is today held by the American soldier.

The United States army is small, in accordance with the will of the people not to support a large standing military establishment. But what we have is almost 100 per cent. efficient, the splendid nucleus of the big army of regulars, militia and volunteers which we should place in the field if occasion required. It is only in equipment — quartermaster, commissary, medicine and particularly ordnance stores—that our army is lacking.—Leslie's.

Wax Removed.

If candlesticks or the patent holders are unsightly because of wax spots, put them in the oven on a folded newspaper; the heat will melt the wax and most of it will be absorbed by the paper. Wipe them vigorously with a soft cloth or tissue paper as soon as they come from the oven. This treatment removes every vestige of wax.—Exchange.

MACKINAW STEAMER COAT WITH BIG POCKETS VERY POPULAR WITH THE GIRLS

Here is the most popular thing just now in the way of steamer coats. The long coat has been found to be somewhat in the way and the Mackinaw has taken its place. Its various pockets are especially fascinating to the girl who never can have one even in her gown. The Bowler hat can be adjusted in many ways and on a windy day can be veiled.

IS VIOLIN MAKING A LOST ART

Two centuries and a half ago there existed in the little city of Cremona a school of violin makers, who wrought patiently and skilfully, and whose names have been brought down to posterity for all time by the excellence of their work. Today we believe that their violins have never been equalled and we devote much attention to explaining just why a Stradivarius, an Amati, a Guarnerius, cannot be duplicated by the modern violin maker. We are informed that the wonderful secret of the enamel, which in some mysterious way aided in imparting tone to the instrument, died with the masters of old. We discourse learnedly of the effect of age in mellowing and making responsive the wood. And we view with something approaching contempt the violins manufactured today. The names of the great makers of the past are the only ones to conjure with and what few of their instruments remain are held by their owners either priceless or at fabulous prices.

How much of this is blind worship? Unquestionably wonderful instruments have come down from the great violin makers of old, but are they necessarily better than modern violins? Moreover there is wide difference among the violins even of the great makers of two centuries and a half ago. Is any Stradivarius better than any modern instrument? Or is at least a good share of our reverence for the great names of the past unjust to the men who are working intelligently and well along the same lines today?

Experience made on the actual violins robbed of the glamor of the names of their makers, indicate something of this. A test has recently been concluded at Chicago by the American guild of violinists. Violins of the old Cremona makers and of modern make were played and the hearers, people of musical training and appreciation, passed on their respective merits. The results were not conclusive as indicating superiority for either the old or the new, but they indicated that there is no such superiority of old violins as is claimed. First place fell to a violin only three years old, although more of the old violins were approved than of the new. The audience of course had no knowledge, when the violins were played, which was the old and which the new. Similar experiments made in Paris a few years ago awarded the palm to the modern violins.

There were wonderful violin makers in the good old Cremona days. There are good violin makers today and the modern violin is by no means to be despised. In fact there are many who believe as good instruments are being made today as have ever been made. These, too, will improve with age.

All this detracts nothing from the greatness of the few masters who centuries ago, before the light of modern science had illuminated the way, wrought so skillfully, but it raises our own estimation of ourselves somewhat.

WHAT'S A-BITIN' MARS WATTERSON

The Courier-Journal, Kunnel Watterson's vehicle for spleen and Billingsgate, devotes two columns of editorial to an attack on Mr. Bryan in which such terms as "adder" are used. Mr. Watterson says Bryan has betrayed Clark and ruined the chance for a democratic victory.

Mars Watterson's feeling in the matter is the best evidence in the world that Mr. Bryan judged rightly when he evicted the speaker, for the Kentuckian is simply experiencing the second spasms of a malady which first showed itself several months ago.

Then Woodrow Wilson, in reply to an inquiry, told Col. Harvey of Harper's that in his opinion the latter's support was hurting his campaign. Col. Watterson was present, and he attacked Wilson for "ingratitude." Now the colonel uses the word "ingratitude" freely in relation to Mr. Bryan.

But in the matter of that Harvey affair, it later developed that the real cause of Watterson's heat was that Dr. Wilson had declined to accept a campaign contribution which the Kentuckian had solicited.

The rejected donation was from Thomas F. Ryan.

Col. Watterson went into a rage.

Bryan indicts Ryan before the convention, and again Watterson goes into a tantrum.

Coincidence, or analogy?

Henry Watterson couldn't guess the outcome of a three-cornered fight in twenty-three guesses, and democracy can afford to laugh at his croaking. If democracy wins, it will be because Bryan drove out the money changers and gave the party a nominee untrammeled by obligations to any big interest or institution. Mars Watterson should devote himself more exclusively to juleps and draw pokah. As a political prophet he is quite effete.

FREEDOM, WHICH YE CRUCIFIED

We note the Chicago Tribune superciliously disposes of Senator La Follette as of an order of progressives far below its own exalted estate. For a late arrival at Armagedden that paper is very warlike.

Its zeal was as yet unborn eight years ago when the Roosevelt gang "threw La Follette's delegates out of the temple," ignoring a decree of the supreme court of Wisconsin.

Inspiration had not fired The Tribune four years ago when Roosevelt steam-rolled Taft upon the party and scoffed at the La Follette platform, every important plank in wnich has since been endorsed by Roosevelt.

The Tribune did not "view with alarm" the action of President Roosevelt in squelching La Follette's atempts to secure progressive legislation during his executive terms.

Collier's says Roosevelt "has been able for over a quarter of a century to see certain moral principles shaping themselves from the confused facts of business and politics and calling for formulation."

Wonderful. Wonderful! Roosevelt "formulated" these things after careful (and belated) study of laws enacted in Wisconsin. Even his "recall of decisions" was furnished him by a Wisconsin progressive.

In view of the fact that a hog recently got through 100 days without food, we opine that the job of starving the trusts is not going to be as easy as some people may think.

Mayor Gaynor announces that he has entirely abolished graft in New York. The announcement will probably come as a surprise to the grafters in that garden spot of the world.

A neglected garbage can will breed more flies in one day than you can swat in a month. Don't forget that, Mr. and Mrs. Householder.

Money doesn't count for so much after all. Dr. L. H. Early, the Philadelphia millionaire, who died from cancer, had offered $1,000,000 for a cure.

Statesmen used to split rails. Now they split infinitives.

Gran'mas
To G. M. G.'s Bama.

There's something 'bout a Gran'ma
a boy can't help but like:
She's always glad to see you, and calls you "Little Tike."
She says, "That boy's not naughty;
he's only full of fun.
A child's a child—I know it, 'cause
I myself was one."
That's how a Gran'ma argues. And when your stomach aches,
She doesn't call you piggy, and count
No; that's a time, she tells you, a boy's in need of love
And little candy pellets that have a taste of clove.
And if a playmate whistles, and you get well and play,
She doesn't say, "I told you that that would be the way!"
No; she's beside the window to smile and wave her hands,
And call, "Have lots of fun, dear."
That's 'cause she understands.
She says the toughest children have tender kinds of skin,
And thinks a downright whipping is something of a sin.
A boy without a Gran'ma just misses half his life.
I'd rather have—I really would—a
Gran'ma than a wife.

An Unprofitable Job.

Old lady (to driver of hansom cab)—"Now, I want you to go very carefully." Driver — "Certainly, mum." Old lady—"And not go racing with other cabs.' Driver—"No, mum." Old lady—"And go slow around corners." Driver — "Yes mum." Old lady (after the ride)—"Here is a shilling; you have driven very carefully. Have you driven a cab all your life?" Driver—No mum; I used to drive a hearse, and blest if I don't go back to it—it's a better game than this. Hope I'll drive you again, mum."

Done Again.

"I should have called before, I am afraid," murmured the little man as he entered the doctor's consulting room. "But these things get put off, you know." Here he was seized with a very violent fit of coughing. "A nasty cough," agreed the doctor. "New just stand over here." "But I came—" said the stranger, but the doctor cut him short. "Say no more," he onswered. "I understand. now take a deep breath and say 'ninety-nine.'" "It's all right, doctor," said the visitor. "I know I've got a bad cough, but I've come round to say 'nine and ninepence.' That's the amount you owe the gas company. I'm a collector!"

A Likely Disease.

Smith is never happy unless he is in the doctor's hands. He has only to read the booklets given away by the patient medicine vendors and he comes to the conclusion he has all sorts of diseases. The other day he met Brown. "Hullo!" shouted Brown, "what's the matter now?" "Oh!" groaned Smith, "my doctor says I've too much iron in my blood." "Do you eat pork?" asked Brown. "Yes," replied Smith, "I like pork." "I thought so," was the quick reply, "Its pig-iron."

What She Meant.

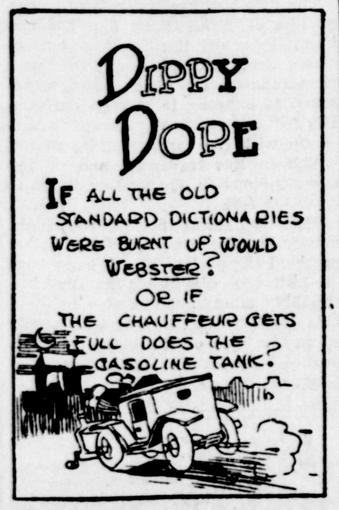

"Willie," said a mother to her firstborn, "do you know what the difference is between body and soul? The soul, my child, is what you love with; the body carries you about. This is your body," touching the little fellow's shoulder, "but you know, my child, there is something deeper in it. You can feel it now. What is it?" "Oh, I know," said Willie, with a flash of intelligence in his eyes," that's my flanned shirt."

Never Mind The Horse.

A man driving a motor car along a country road met an old-fashioned carriage in which was an old-fashioned couple. They jumped to the ground, and the car came to a standstill. The man of the car stepped forward and offered to help to lead the horse past the machine. "Oh, never mind the horse—never mind the horse!" said the old man. "You lead the old lady past that thing and I'll get the horse by!"

A Burning Question.

A good story was told by an American Senator concerning a very religious evangelist, who plastered the hills of Pennsylvania with Bible quotations and religious mottoes. On one fine rock alongside of a popular highway he painted these words— "What will you do when you die?" An enterprising advertising agent came along and he painted underneath that question—"Use Delta Oil—Good for Burns."

Pursuit.

First of all, I ate something; for, now that I understood the blow, now that panic had crystallized into determination, I recognized that, the more serious the situation, the more need there was that I should be at my top level of efficiency. Then seriously I sat down to consider the matter.

After all, I was certain of only one thing, that Nancy had not left me of her own free will, and even here my certainty was a moral one. With morning I must be ready to find her, to go straight to her if I could; or, at any rate, I must have some definitely determined plan of action; nothing much is ever gained by a vague casting about for a trail. And, as at first I thought things over, it all seemed for the moment blind and helpless. Then methodically I went back to the very beginning of things. Of a sudden I remembered the curtains that had stirred in Ephraim Bond's house, that unknown eavesdropper at our first meeting, whose arm I had grasped through the curtain folds and found unexpectedly strong. I remembered, too, Nancy's nervousness at the ferry, and the man in the brown derby hat, who had driven up just too late to catch our boat. How stupid and unnoticing a man in love may be; now was the first time that I connected this impatient man at the ferry gates with the skulking intruder of the night of our arrival, whose lost hat, rocking in the empty road, had alone been enough to cloud the happiness of the day for Nancy. Surely, I thought, here was the man.

Here was the man; but how was I further advanced? To be sure, I had seen him at the ferry, and had struggled with him amid the glimpsing moonlight of the lawn; but on neither occasion had I clearly seen his face, nor could I call to mind any memory of it. Yet, in all probability, it was he who had inquired about us at the county seat. Here was a man remarkable for nothing save a long nose. The fact that the clerk was very sure that then he wore a cloth cap, strengthened rather than weakened the probability. If the man I had struggled with, and who had lost that brown derby as he broke away from me, were the same, he would not have gone about the country bareheaded, but would have stepped in to a local haberdasher's to make some shift at replacing his loss. That he returned for the derby showed more a commendable caution than anything else; he must have been pretty certain that I had Nancy in my care, and as he was definitely planning to take her away from me, risked a daylight search of the roadside rather than leave such a workable clue in my hands. And with the thought I got to my feet. After all, something was left; I need not start absolutely in the dark; for up-stairs in my bureau lay the torn collar and tie, tangible witnesses of our midnight encounter. I took the lamp from the table and climbed the stairs in search of them.

The door of Nancy's room was still open. How empty the house seemed! I closed my own door behind me to shut out the new and poignant loneliness, and to lock myself in to that familiar solitude to which I had grown perforce accustomed.

The collar itself was torn and rumpled, but evidently, as I had noticed before, of good make. I smoothed it out on the bureau before me, going over it minutely, as I imagined a Central Office man would do, and, to make things more clear, jotted down in my note-book what meager observations and deductions I could make. The size was sixteen; evidently my man was either stout or strong; for a matter of fact I already knew him to be the latter. It was marked in indelible ink, M. 48, after the custom of steam laundries, and there followed after this five upright marks in varying degrees of freshness, four of them grouped together by a cutting diagonal. These marks I took it were his own; I had known one or two men before with this same economical inquisitiveness, whose strange pleasure it was so to reckon the life of a collar. These marks simply meant that this particular collar had been laundered six times since its purchase, in all probability by the same concern. And as there were no other laundry marks than the M. 48 I had noted, this it seemed to me must mean two things; first, that my man had in all probability lived in one place for at least six weeks, and second, that in this case, he must have become a known and listed patron of some laundry.

The tie was plain enough but bore the name of a fashionable New York maker, which I hoped meant that my man lived in New York, and that perhaps he might be known to the firm whose name the tie bore. I knew, at least, that fortunately they prided themselves upon the exclusiveness of their designs, that, even in their own shop, they sold but two or three of the same pattern, and I hoped that there I might chance upon a salesman intelligent enough, and with that uncanny trick of remembering a customer's face that salesmen sometimes acquire, to give me some information as to whom this tie actually belonged. Perhaps, even, it bore some distinguishing mark, indistinguishable to my untrained eyes. I rolled the two together very carefully, and stowed them away in my coat pocket.

Outside it was bright moonlight again; and I stood by the window for a moment, following with my eyes our winding road, and unconsciously searching the crisp black shadows for the intruder of two nights ago. Once it seemed to me that I almost saw him; then I recognized the absurdity of the thought and what a jangle my nerves must me in. But, nevertheless, although I smiled at my own foolishness, I took the collar and tie from my coat pocket, and tucked them under my pillow. After all, they were about my only clues, and I should keep them as safe as a traveler in foreign lands guards his money-belt. Then through sheer fatigue I fell asleep.

SHE COULD NOT REMEMBER

Absent-Minded Woman's Peculiar Reason for Wanting to Be Rung Up on the 'Phone.

Absent-minded persons sorely try the patience of girls in the New Rochelle telephone office. Not long ago a woman confessed herself subject to extreme forgetfulness and requested the day operator on her exchange to ring her up every morning at 9 o'clock. A week later she said:

"Central, what was it I wanted you to call me for at 9 o'clock?"

"I don't know," said the girl. "You didn't tell me. You just asked me to call at 9 o'clock."

"Too bad," said the woman. "I know there was something I wanted to do every morning at 9 o'clock, but I can't for the life of me think what it was."

The 9 o'clock calls continued, however, and several days later the woman took central into her confidence again.

"I have found out why I wanted to be called," she said. "A friend had given me a canary and I wanted to make sure of remembering to feed it. The poor little thing is nearly starved. Hereafter when you ring won't you just say, 'Feed the bird,' and I'll go straight and do it?"

Central promised, and the neglected canary is now a plump and contented bird.—New York Times.

You are as rich as anybody if you don't owe anybody anything.

A baby yells because something worries it, but a college youth yells because he hasn't any better sense.

To Discard Freckles, Tan, Pimples, Wrinkles

(From Feminine World.)

The use of creams on the face sometime causes hair to grow. You can avoid the risk of acquiring superfluous hair by avoiding cosmetics and using mercolized wax instead. There is nothing better for any condition of the skin, as the wax actually absorbs the offensive cuticle. The latter is naturally replaced by a clear, smooth, healthy complexion, full of life and expression. It's the sensible way to discard a freckled, tanned, over-red, blotchy or pimpled skin. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any druggist's and apply nightly like cold cream, erasing in the morning with soap and water. It takes a week or so to complete the transformation.

The ideal wrinkle eradicator is made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution brings almost instantaneous results.

Temporary Money

Money which must be used again within a short time for business purposes should be deposited temporarily in a Certificate of Deposit with the Batavian National Bank.

If, through change of circumstances, the amount should be left for six months or a year, it will bear interest at the regular rates for the period it remains.

Certificates are negotiable by endorsement without disturbing the earned interest. This one feature makes them a desirable manner of deposit.

Saving Deposits made on or before July 10 draw interest from July 1.

CHANGE FROM HEAT TO COLD KILLS MAN

The change in temperature caused by going from the heat into a car which he was icing in the C. M. & St. P. yards last night, brought on a stroke of apoplexy to John Spirka, 801 George street, who died at the La Crosse hospital at 12:15 o'clock this morning. Mr. Spirka became sick at 10 o'clock while he was icing a car, and his death followed at the hospital about two hours later.

Mr. Spirka was born in Germany and he was 32 years old. He came to La Crosse eight years ago and he has resided here since that time. He was a car repairer for the C. M. & St. P. railroad.

Surviving him are his wife and two children, Marie, aged 4, and Stella, aged 2.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

SPARTA SHUT OUT BY CLOTHIERS 4 TO 0

The La Crosse Clothing company baseball team won its third consecutive shut-out game from the Sparta team at League park on the 4th of July, when it defeated the Monroe county team by the score of 4 to 0. Sparta has been unable to send a man over the rubber in the 29 times they have been to bat during the last two years in games played with the Clothiers. Bartels as usual pitched a splendid game and the locals had little difficulty in holding Sparta from scoring. Scantleton for Sparta also pitched good ball. The score:

La Crosse .....00020200x—	4	5	1
Sparta ....000000000—	0	3	3

Batteries—Bartels and Griffin; Scantleton and Shertzer.

REPUBLIC SPIRIT SPREADS

BERLIN, July 6.—A special dispatch today to Neue Freie Presse from Constantinople says that the military conspiracy is spreading rapidly from Albania throughout European Turkey. It was learned yesterday it was said that officers of the Turkish army had made at Adrianople, formulating plans for a military dictatorship looking to the transformation of European Turkey into a republic.

WILL NOT REPLY TO U. S. REPORT

BOSTON, Mass., July 6. — The American Woolen company will not reply to the report to the senate by the Federal Bureau of Labor on its investigation of labor conditions in the textile mills of Lawrence, Mass., where Industrial Workers of the world scored a signal victory in higher wages after a sensational ten weeks' strike.

"The federal bureau's report made no recommendations," said one of the American Woolen company officers today, "and therefore there is nothing to do about it. It is a closed incident."

CHICAGO IN GRIP OF FATAL HEAT

CHICAGO, July 6.—After a torrid night this city today faced another twenty-four hours of the hot wave that has caused 15 deaths since noon yesterday and prostrated many more. Since daylight the police received reports of fifteen prostrations today. Many additional deaths were expected today. Suffering was particularly intense on the west side where the majority of the city's poorer children live.

TORGE WON'T RUN ON STATE TICKET

MADISON, Wis., July 6.—(Special.)—A. T. Torge, for five years assistant secretary of state who resigned Jan. 1, to enter tne business field, said today he will not seek the republican nomination for secretary of state. This leaves the field clear so far as present candidacies go for Senator John S. Donald of Mount Horeb.

HEAT KILLS ELEVEN

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 6.—Two persons died early today as a result of the excessive heat, making eleven who have succumbed since the present hot wave started. In addition to these deaths many prostrations have resulted and no relief is in sight.

Something to Think About.

If a carp can live a century and a half and a pike live to be 267, why shouldn't a piker live to be 1000? Admitting that an elephant deserves to live to be 100, and that one tusker has lived to be 350, and considering that a white-headed vulture has survived captivity almost fifteen decades, and that the cat who keeps you awake at night may not expire for 20 years, did Methuselah have much to boast of, after all?

APPOINTS INSULAR CHIEF

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The president today appointed Col. Frank McIntyre to be chief of the bureau of insular affairs, with rank of brigadier general, succeeding Brigadier General Clarence R. Edwards, recently made brigadier general of the line. McIntyre has been Edwards' assistant in the bureau of insular affairs since 1905.

MICHIGAN IN HEAT WAVE

DETROIT, Mich., July 6.—Five heat prostrations in this city and one deatn in the state is the toll of the heat wave which swept over Michigan during the last twenty-four hours.

FARMERS MUST FIGHT THE PEST.

Don't allow the manure to accumulate about the barns. Manure is the principal breeding place for flies. Flies do not travel great distances. Most of their life is spent close to where they are hatched and where they get their food. Keep the garbage can closed. Screen the doors and the windows of the farmhouse. Do not pour slop, skimmilk or other hog feed on the ground. Filth and flies have no place in modern standards of living.—Kansas Farmer.

WINGED SCAVENGERS.

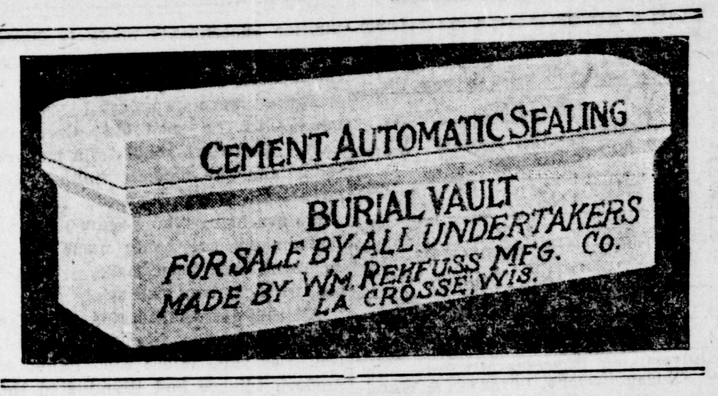

Travelers tell us that many oriental countries are content to let dogs be their scavengers and do the work of garbage cans and carts.

We have long been content to let flies finish up after our street cleaners and careless stablemen and to infect our houses by means of their dirty feet.

The fly's legs are well suited to carry bits of filth. Each foot has two claws, by which it clings to rough surfaces, and two pads covered with thousands of tiny sticky hairs, which assist in clinging to smooth surfaces. His feet are constantly becoming balled up with the contaminating matter which he has traversed, and he frequently stops on our food or dishes to clear his feet.

This mechanical transfer is a slight matter in comparison with the matter excreted—flyspecks. The flies are born in filth too disgusting to describe. Probably ninety-five out of a hundred flies walking over our food were hatched in the filth of the stable or cesspool.—Bulletin of Health Education League.

Isn't Your Vacation Just About Due?

I don't think there ever was a time when so many people were thinking about and planning vacations as right now. There seems to be something in the air which makes everybody long to pack up and go away awhile.

The tourist fares are very attractive this summer, too. There are rates to the West, rates to the North and rates to the East. Liberal stopover privileges and long limits.

I wish you would come in and see me when you are planning your trip, tell me where and about when you want to go and I'll give you a good deal of help. It's my job with the Burlington Route to see that all travelers are well taken care of. I'll gladly answer your questions, tell you when reduced rates start and take most of the details off your mind.

FLANDERS WINS RACE

TACOMA, Wash., July 6.—Bob Evans, driving a Flanders Special, won the first automobile race of the Monta Mara festa here, covering 100 miles in one hour, eight minutes and five seconds, an average speed of 63 miles an hour. Jack Tower was second in a Flanders and Joerman was third in a Maxwell. Tower's time was one hour, thirty-nine minutes. Joerman's time was one hour, forty-two minutes, nineteen seconds.

His Reply

A tramp rapped at the door the other day and asked the woman if she could spare him a piece of bread. "No, I can't," replied the woman; "and if you knew who I was you wouldn't come here." "Oh, and who are you?" asked the tramp. "I am a policeman's wife, and if he were here he would take you." "Well," replied the tramp, "if he'd take you he'd take anybody."

Pretty and Novel Device.

A girl who has passed part of her life in Japan invited 16 friends to dinner recently, and in the center of the table was a large bird made of forget-me-nots. That the bird covered a phonograph was not known until the finger bowl stage of the banquet. In the water were floating rose petals, and they gradually unfolded into a scroll, on which was written: "Get my secret from the bird." Curiosity was at high pitch when the young hostess turned the key and the bird softly sang "Marie and Philip want me to tell you that they are engaged and invite you all to the wedding." Congratulations then were in order, but the secret was kept so well until the bird talked that no one suspected more than a casual friendship existed between the hostess and her admirer.—New York Press

SAM CRAWFORD IS GOING DOWN HILL: BATTING AVERAGE NOW BELOW .300

Sam Crawford.

A glance at American league batting averages would be enough to convince anyone that Sam Crawford, Detroit's veteran slugger, is not hitting the ball this season as he has in former years. Last season he had a batting average of .378; a record excelled only by Cobb and Jackson. Now he is twenty-third on the list, and has a batting average of a little less than .300. Crawford is getting old.

PLEASED WITH BIJOU

CROWD THAT ATTENDS OPENING PERFORMANCE DELIGHTED WITH IMPROVEMENTS IN NEW PLAY HOUSE

It was a well-pleased crowd that left the newly opened Bijou theater this afternoon at the end of the first matinee. Everyone was more than satisfied with the class of pictures and the other features of the program, and each was enthusiastic over the improvements that have been made in the nouse.

"Wish't th' show 'uz longer," said a small boy to his pal. "I'd rather sit in theer under that there fan than go over to th' bath house."

he program that opens the new theater is an exceptionally well-balanced and pleasing one. There is a western picture, introducing a trained bear, a tramp comedy called "Apple Pies," and a picture showing American jackies at work demolishing targets with the big guns. This picture was taken aboard the Atlantic fleet during its recent target practice at Guantanamo, Cuba.

As an extra added attraction, Prof. A. J. Wihte, Detroit, who calls himself the world's greatest whistler, singer and guitar player, does a specialty act.

Patented Articles Must Be Marked.

We are all accustomed to see a patented article marked "Patented," with the date of the patent. It is doubtful, however, whether one in a hundred, or in five hundred, who notices the mark realizes its importance to the patentee. The statute on the subject makes it the duty of all patentees or those holding under or making the patented article for them to apply the mark "Patented," together with the day and year the patent was granted, and the same statute provides as a penalty for not marking that "in any suit for infringement by the party failing to so mark no damages shall be recovered by the plaintiff, except on proof that the defendant was duly notified of the infringement, and continued, after such notice, to make, use or vend the article so patented."—Scientific American.

Not Really Naval Stores.

The terming of turpentine, tar, pitch and rosin as naval stores is a misnomer. It originated many years ago, when tar and pitch first were used to coat the bottoms of vessels to make them watertight and to cover the rigging of ships to preserve it from the action of the weather. All ships carried always a supply of tar among their stores, and hence the original of the term "naval stores." It was used only by ship builders and ship owners and others who had to do directly with shipping, and was a nautical term only. Then, when the products of the gum of the long-leaf pine came into general commercial importance, the term was accepted as a fitting one for all articles of commerce manufactured from that substance, and is maintained to this day, although the uses that created it have little to do with the interests of the trade.

Rousseau's Etiquette of Love.

Before Rousseau, love was a highly refined form of social intercourse, a species of gallantry conducted with self-restraint, and all the formalities of special etiquette; any extravagancy, whether in feeling, in speech, or in action, was banished. But when Saint-Preux, oppressed by his high-strung passions, came to the rock at Meilliere to pour forth in solitude the flood of his sentimental tears, all the witty refinements of eighteenth century gallantry, for good or for evil, were finally swept away; extravagancy was free to lay down the law in love. It was Rousseau who enabled Mirabeau, in his first letter to Julie Danvers (whom he had never seen), to declare, "I, also, am a lover, have emptied the cup of sensibility to the dregs, and could give a thousand lives for what I love." It was Rousseau who laid down a new etiquette of love which every petty poet and novelist still adheres to.—Atlantic Monthly.

In the mail of a local sporting goods dealer, recently, was a letter which indicated that the writer was considerate, even though he failed to back up his consideration with square dealing in its entirety, relates the Indianapolis News. The letter bore a Peoria (Ill.) postmark and read in substance as follows:

"Peoria, Ill. Gentlemen—I am inclosing you a pawn check for $4.50 on the —— loan office in your city. The check is for an Arrow bicycle, which I know you sell. It was stolen in Indianapolis. By referring to your records and comparing the number on the wheel with your books you will be able to find the owner. No doubt he will be willing to present inclosed check with $4.50 in exchange for his wheel, I am, yours truly."

The writer neglected to sign his name, but the store was able to find the owner and the wheel was redeemed.

MANY CAMPERS AT RIVERSIDE

Local Y. W. C. A. Has Cottage at Popular Camping Grounds; Celebrate Independence Day

Riverside camp is the scene of considerable activity at present practically all the cotages and several tents being occupied by families in search of rest and recreation. Among those now at this popular camping place are the Lockman, Hansen, Bangsberg and Packman families, while the Misses Cohen are a recent addition to the camp, arriving with their paraphernalia yesterday.

The local Y. W. C. A. also occupy a cottage at the grounds, this camp being in charge of Misses Bertha Hoefka and Amanda Clement. This camp will be in operation during the greater part of the summer, the girls of the association "taking turns" at camp. Many of the girls go to and from their work in the city each day, spending but the evenings at camp, this being possible through an arrangement by which the Riverside launch makes two trips a day to the camp.

The Fourth of July was appropriately celebrated at the Y. W. C. A. camp with fireworks and a war dance, while the other campers also contributed their share. Twelve girls spent the Fourth at the Y. W. camp.

Benefits of Royal Academy.

A membership of the Royal academy of London carries with it numerous advantages. In a word the academy is a benefit society founded on a very generous scale. The pension fund of Burlington house is a splendid one. Any Royal Academician who falls upon hard times or who is prevented by ill health from following his profession may claim a pension, and the pension sometimes runs into as much as $2,000 a year.

The Royal Academician who dies in straitened circumstances and leaves his widow and children insufficiently provided for is not thought any the less of for his ill fortune. The Royal academy shows its sympathy by generously allowing those who were dependent on him a liberal sum for their maintenance. And the wife and the children of a deceased Royal Academician receive many kindnesses and acts of charity from the hands of the living Royal Academicians, which are quite distinct from those given by this academy.—National Magazine.

USE ANCIENT BARGE

KING GEOFGE AND QUEEN VIEW REGATTA FROM STATE BOAT BUILT FOR WILLIAM III

LONDON, July 6.—In the presence of the king and queen and thousands of spectators the Paris Rowing club won the historic Thames cup, the opening event of the final day of the Henley regatta. The king and queen joined the great water carnival in the ancient royal barge built for King William the Third, and which has not been used for nearly 100 years.

The barge has been especially overhauled for the occasion and was gorgeously decorated in red and gold with silken canopy and drapings. It was manned by Royal Bargemaster W. G. East and six of the king's watermen, clad in ancient Tudor uniforms embroidered with the royal cipher and crown. Except for walking in royal funeral or coronation processions, this was the first real job the royal watermen have had for many years, but as they are all experienced boatmen, they had little difficulty in handling the unwieldy craft.

AUTOGRAPH TELLS A TALE

Character of the Kaiser Revealed to Expert by Close Analysis of His Signature.

There is always a certain amount of interest attached to the deductions drawn by graphologists from the signatures of eminent men. Here, for example, is an illuminating description of the kaiser's autograph, supplied by an eminent Berlin graphologist:

"To begin with, there is a crochet, a sign of pertinacity, followed by a vertical dash, showing audacity, energy, regardless of any obstacle. Then there is an acute angle, a sign of firmness and aggressiveness. The first stroke of the 'W' indicates a feeling of superiority over the rest of the universe. The termination of the imperial 'W' suggests that the sovereign sometimes finds himself struggling with the multitude of his thoughts, or the power of his instincts.

"The other letters forming the signature show similar characteristics," the graphologist proceeds. "The final 'm' is indicative of great diplomacy, which to the analyist suggests subtlety. The letter also suggests the impossibility of the suppression of the 'ego.' The flourish which terminates the imperial autograph shows a suppleness of spirit, a desire to be loved, also self-esteem.

"The two terminating points indicate defiance and generally the characteristics are those of an extraordinary imagination."

Age Limit Placed Too Low.

Think of saying a man of 60 was too old to be a judge! Yet that was New York law in 1777. It was also New York law in 1823 when Chancellor Kent was forced off the bench by it. That he was by no means decrepit physically or mentally at the time is manifest from his noted work, "Commentaries on American Law," which he wrote after his retirement.

Source of the Brahmaputra.

For 40 years the birthplace of the great Brahmaputra river of India was thought to be among the high valleys of the eastern Himalayas or on the Plateau of Tibet north of those mountains. The theory could not be proved, for hostile Abors in the Himalayan valleys killed the explorers or barred their way when they sought to solve the mystery.

It was believed 20 years ago that the Sangpo river, flowing far eastward through southern Tibet, was the upper part of the Brahmaputra. Marked logs set afloat in the Sangpop were watched for in the Brahmaputra, but were never found. At last, however, the explorers sent out with the troops who have punished the Abhors for their massacre of Williamson and his 200 carriers have shown that the two rivers are identical. The Brahmaputra rises far west near the headwaters of the Indus, among the mountains bordering southern Tibet.

WELCH DENIES FOUL IN FIGHT

Referee Declares There was No Unfair Blow Struck in the Wolgast-Rivers Bout

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 6.—"There wasn't a foul blow struck in the Wolgast-Rivers fight. Rivers was knocked out."

This is the statement made public today by Jack Welch, referee of the championship fight in Vernon on July 4, upon his return to his home in this city.

Wolgast Not Hit

"I do not know why Wolgast fell, for he was not hit, but I do know that I was counting over Rivers, and I pulled Wolgast out of the way. He got upon his feet and was standing up when the count was finished. The bell signalling the end of the round did not ring for several seconds after I had counted ten over Rivers, and had declared Wolgast the winner. I left the ring as soon as I gave my decision. I always do this.

"The fight up to the 13th round was slightly in favor of Wolgast, who had a shade in all the rounds with the exception of the first, third, sixth and eleventh. Wolgast did his best work in the 12th round. He had more than a shade in that.

"Several people rushed into the ring at the conclusion of the fight and asked me to call all bets off. I told them that I was refereeing the fight and had nothing to do with the betting.

"Tnere was no chance for me to miss seeing the punches that knocked Rivers out. The first was a right hander and the second a left."

Willing to Meet

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 6.—"Any time and any place, but he will have to come through with a side bet of $5,000.'"

This was Ad Wolgast's reply today to a query as to when he will be ready to conclude his pugilistic arguments with Joes Rivers, who, future records will say, was knocked out by the champion at Vernon, July 4.

Wolgast is considering a two months hunting trip to Alaska this summer.

It is possible that he and Jeffries will head a party. Upon his return, he says, he will be ready for Rivers. He favors Labor Day and Vernon for the bout.

Rivers wants to meet Wolgast again at tne earliest opportunity. Meanwhile Manager Levy has asked Promoter McCarey to arrange a match for Rivers with any good lightweight. McCarey has not yet reached a decision regarding the disposition of his gold championship belt. The trophy reposes in a safety deposit vault.

T. R. CALLS WILSON A FREE TRADER

Colonel Says if Democratic Platform Is Carried Out the Country Will Be Ruined

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 6.—Things began to stir at Sagamore Hill yesterday in preparation for the issuing of the call for the national progressive convention on Monday. Colonel Roosevelt started it off with an attack on Governor Wilson and the platforms adopted by the republican and democratic conventions.

Wilson, he declared, is a free trader at heart and the democratic party cannot go before the country on its platform as framed at Baltimore and hope to receive the support of the people.

"Governor Wilson and the party, as represented by the Baltimore convention," he declared, "are occupying an inconsistent position in the campaign in regard to the tariff. If it is rigidly adhered to it would plunge the country into ruin."

Effect of Free Trade

Colonel Roosevelt declared that the democratic party had gone on record in favor of free entry of the necessities of life.

"Of course," he said, "the first persons that such a policy would harm would be the farmers. The democratic party could do only one of two things. It might wink at its tariff plank and admit that it was written for campaign purposes only, or it might attempt to enforce it, which would mean ruin to the country.

"Should free trade be adopted it would be only a temporary thing with effects so disastrous that the country would soon come back to the principle of protection. It would be possible for the big money interests to build up great industries in China and Japan to take advantage of the cheap labor there and import the products to this country to undersell domestic goods."

Studies Cost of Living

The colonel reiterated his intention of making the conditions that result in the high cost of living the big issue of his campaign and said he was making a deep study into these conditions. He was asked if he would have a formal statement to make soon and replied:

"I think that it will be fully two weeks after the convention call is issued before I will make a formal declaration. Then, however, I shall place before the people a full statement of my beliefs and what I think should be done. It will show on what issues the campaign of the progressives is to be made."

WASHINGTON, July 6. — The Roosevelt convention will be held in Chicago about Aug. 10, according to a telegram from Senator Dixon, the Roosevelt campaign manager, who is in New York. The telegram was sent to a member of the Roosevelt provisional committee and is as follows:

"It is proposed to issue the call for the progressive convention at Chicago about Aug. 10. The call will, in substance, state that we ask all men to join in the movement who believe in the genuine rule by the people over their own governmental agencies, who believe in social and industrial justice and the abolition of privilege, especially in connection with the alliance between corrupt business and corrupt politics; who believe that stealing is stealing, whether in business or in politics, whether on a big scale or a little scale, who believe that the people themselves and not the political machinery constitute a party; who believe that the power of the bosses over the machinery of both the old parties is such that tne triumph of either means merely the substitution of one set of bosses and machinery for another set, while leaving special privilege entrenched just as strongly as ever."

Three horses were found lying on the ground at the Market Square yesterday afternoon, two suffering from heat while the third was found to be in a critical condition, the result of a rupture. George W. Patterson, veterinary surgeon condemned eight cows in the vicinity of Tomah yesterday, they being unable to stand the tuberculin test.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Today's stock market was dull and uninteresting. The tone, however, was fairly firm throughout the day and there was no evidence of pressure to sell. Soon after the opening, which was at yesterday's level, there was a gradual advance in prices of from 1-2 to a full point. This helped Union Pacific, United States Steel, Reading and a few of the other shares. But the transactions were on the other hand unimportant, and the movement was utterly lacking in enthusiasm. On the other side the markets were governed by the extraordinary conditions which have forced the price of British consols, French hentes and German government bonds to new lower records this week. This little initiative to the trading at London, where the discount rates were reported to be hardening. During the last half hour of trading here the stock market was at a standstill, with prices ruling for the most part, however, fairly firm.

MEDIUM GIVEN MUCH CASH FOR DEFENSE

CHICAGO, July 6.—The case against Mrs. Louise Lindloff, charged with the murder of her 15 year old son Arthur and suspected in connection with the deaths of other members of her family, was nonsuited today by Judge Walker upon motion of the state's attorney.

Since she was arrested Mrs. Lindloff, who is a spiritualist, has received a total of $8,400 from persons who expressed a desire to aid financially in her defense.

The court's action today does not free Mrs. Lindloff. The case is before the grand jury, having been passed to that body by a coroner's jury.

CALLS T. R. MAN WITHOUT A PARTY

Burleson Alleges Colonel Is Making Capital for His New Faction by Hunting Flaws

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Characterizing Col. Roosevelt as a "man without a party" who is attempting to cut a path into American politics for his third party by "petty criticism of the candidates selected by the democratic convention," Representative Burleson of Texas, today replied to the charges Roosevelt made at Oyster Bay yesterday.

"There is no room for a third party in this campaign," Burleson declared. "Mr. Roosevelt realizes that as the greatest impediment before him in his new organization scheme. He is analyzing the platforms and policies of the republican and democratic parties now in an energetic endeavor to discover some flaw upon which he can build a foundation for a third party. He is attempting the impossible."

"Col. Roosevelt advocates the repeal of the Sherman law. That is a new and fitting move for his third party. His supporters, E. H. Gary of the Steel trust, George W. Perkins of the Morgan syndicate; Medill McCormick of the Harvester trust, and others who dominate the great industries of the United States are also in favor of the repeal of the Sherman law."

LIST OF DEAD AT CORNING NOW 39

CORNING, N. Y., July 6.—Careful checking and verification of the list of the dead by the coroner and his assistants today showed that the number of victims of Thursday's disaster on the Lackawanna railroad was thirty-nine instead of forty-one, as reported. There are still five unidentified bodies.

TARIFF THE BIG ISSUE

That the tariff is the one issue that will overshadow all others in the coming campaign was the positive declaration made by Governor Wilson today.

"Undoubtedly the tariff is the chief object of interest to the people of the United States," said the democratic presidential candidate. "It is interlaced with every other issue. In fact it is at the very heart of every other question. A great many, in fact nearly all of the trust questions have their origin in the tariff. Just as sure as you start from the center of the tariff question you arrive at the trusts."

The governor took occasion today to comment on the question of campaign contributions. He has made it plain that he will carefully scrutinize all contributions made to the democratic campaign fund and today said that money coming in unsolicited from various parts of the United States.

FIND CONDITIONS BAD AT LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The senate this afternoon ordered printed as a public document a bitter arraignment of working conditions at Lawrence Mass., in the form of an official report by federal labor bureau agents who investigated the reasons for last winter's textile strike.

The exact text of the report will not be made public until it comes from the printing office, but some of its features are a sweeping condemnation of the mill owners. It is estimated that the average wage given 21,000 employes during one week selected at random last year was $8.76. The labor bureau's investigators found unsanitary, illventilated and squalid living quarters furnished for the mill workers.

The Dancer.

"His little slanting eyes followed the butterfly movements of Lan-Tin here and there, the free toss of her little head and the graceful abandon of her arms as she flung them over her head, and again brought them down with a sweeping bend to the very ground. Lan-Tin forgot the mandarin and all his regal magnificence. She was playing a pretty little game of make-believe. She was the wind blowing through the plum tree. Tossing and twirling, bending low as did the drooping branches, waving slowly, rushing fiercely like a tiny whirlwind. With flushed cheeks and glowing eyes she was the spirit of the wind.

"Then a funny thing happened. From outside the windows that opened on the perfumed Chinese night came the sound of loud hand-clapping and deep, strange voice shouting 'Brava!' She dropped down on a cushion, no longer a wind fairy, but a little wilted flower."—From "The Tale of Little Lan-Tin," by Flo Hingler.

Not a Permanent Arrangement.

In London the saloons are open on Sundays between the hours of three and five in the afternoon. A couple of roughs were standing in front of one of these accommodations waiting for it to open when a Salvation Army captain who was passing said, "Men, don't you know that when you enter a saloon you enter hell?" "That's all right, old top," piped one of the roughs, "thel'll throw us out in a couple of hours."

EDUCATORS TO BE IN HOT CONTESTS

Amendment to Constitution and Election of Officers to Bring On Struggles

CHICAGO, July 6.—Two lively fights were scheduled between the progressive and conservative factions into which the 10,000 teachers of the National Education association were divided when their opening session was started here today. Mrs. Ella Young, superintendent of the Chicago schools and a progressive leader, intended to put before the association an amendment to the constitution and the proposal to admit to full voting power about 500 teachers who have joined the organization within the last two months.

The progressives desire to place the management of the organization in the hands of executive members and to take considerable power from the board of directors. Leading the fight against the proposed constitutional change is Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university.

Headquarters of the New York delegation were opened today to boost the candidacy of Miss Grace Strachan, president of the Interborough Teachers' association, for president of the National Education association. Miss Strachan will aid Mrs. Young in the fight for the progressives. The conservatives will probably have a dark horse candidate.

Carroll G. Pearse of Milwaukee, president of the association, was in Chicago early today. The following university professors are scheduled to speak at early sessions: Edmund James, Illinois; Charles R. Van Hise, Wisconsin; James H. Baker, Colorado, and William O. Thompson, Ohio.

A Physician Cures His Wife Of Consumption

With A Simple Home Treatment. Book Fully Describing the Treatment Sent Absolutely Free To Any Lung Sufferer.

Dr. W. H. KNIGHT of East Saugus, Mass., writes: "My wife was down with Consumption, when I ordered the Lloyd treatment. She was very weak from night sweats, cough, and in a feverish condition. I noticed a change for the better after ten days' treatment, and from that time on up to three months, when the cure was completed. The Lloyd treatment kills the Tubercle Bacillus in the blood and tissue, and it is the only remedy so far discovered that will do this. It is a preventive as well as a cure. It should be used by those who are run down, or those who fear the approach of Consumption. It can be truthfully said that for the cure and prevention of Consumption, it is the most wonderful treatment of the present age."

This is only one of hundreds of letters received from physicians and others reporting cases of consumption and lung trouble restored to health in all sections of the United States. We want to send every lung sufferer absolutely free the startling statements of Dr. W. H. Kiester of Dayton, Ohio, Dr. C. G. Pinckard of Kansas City, Mo., Dr. J. H. Ward of Troy, Mo., and many others who report results almost beyond belief, together with a valuable booklet on the cause, prevention and treatment of consumption and lung trouble.

FREAR ATTACKS RAILROAD MAN

Declares Assertion of President of Soo Line About Legislation Is Untrue

RICE LAKE, Wis., July 6.—Secretary of State James A. Frear, the orator of the day at the Fourth of July celebration at Cameron, answered the recent communication of President Pennington of the Soo line wherein the railway legislation of Wisconsin was severely criticised.

Mr. Frear had charge of railway legislation when in the assembly and state senate at the time the railway commission law was passed.

Holding up the clipping from an Eau Claire paper, he said: "If the statement of President Pennington that his road is compelled to suffer unjustly by reason of this law, is correct, all that Mr. Pennington has to do is to appeal from the decision of the railway commission to the courts, and the constitutional protection given all public utilities against confiscation of private property will be invoked. Every road is entitled to make reasonable earnings on its actual property and no court or commission can override this plain provision of law. The Wisconsin law does not create any hardships. It is purely a question of its application."

Always Business.

"Are you angry because I lost my temper and tried to scratch your eyes out?" asked the repentant prima donna. "No," replied the impresario. "It was a good suggestion. Just remember how you went about it and if grand opera fails maybe we can do something in the moving picture way."

Ministerial Economy.

Considering his meagre salary, it was a mystery to economical parishioners how the minister could afford to contribute so liberally to the church's social affairs, but another financial expert finally explained that it was a good investment.

"The money he contributes makes these entertainments so attractive," he said, "that the young people fall in love and marry, and he makes it back many times over on the wedding fees."

PARDONS CONVICT TO SAVE SANITY

MADISON, Wis., July 6.—Governor McGovern today granted a conditional pardon to John Matthews, serving a fourteen year sentence in Waupun for second degree murder committed at Neenah in March, 1909. The terms of the pardon are that Matthews abstain absolutely from the use of liquor, conduct himself as a good citizen and report quarterly to F. A. Leavens of Neenah. Matthews' mind has become affected, and a report by Warden Woodward and Dr. Rock Slyster, prison physician, says the only chance to save him is to give him his freedom.

EAU CLAIRE STORM TIES UP TRAFFIC

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., July 6.—Eau Claire is entirely deprived of electric power of any kind today, as the result of a storm which wrecked about twenty poles carrying transmission wires from the power house of the Chippewa Valley Railway, Light and Power company yesterday. Local street cars and the Eau Claire-Chippewa Falls Interurban service is also tied up.

The heavy rain, which lasted several hours, proved of inestimable benefit to growing crops.

ANDEAN RAILWAY BLOCKED BY SNOW

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Continued heavy snowfalls have completely blocked the Trans-Andean railway which runs between Valparaiso and Buenos Ayres, according to dispatches to the state department. When the snow began falling gangs of workmen were sent out to try to keep the tracks clear, but the men were overwhelmed with blizzards, and bitter winds blew the snow back into the cuts as fast as they were cleared. Rotary plows have not availed and it is now believed the line cannot be cleared before August or September.

It was charged that Eilers attempted to sell to England certain military secrets and plans of the fortress of Heligoland and that Miss Kling aided him.

DON'T LIKE THE G. O. P. LABOR PLANK

CINCINNATI, O., July 6.—"The punctuation in the labor plank of the republican platform is good, and so is the grammar," said Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who was here, "but it is lacking in human quality and is not responsive to the yearnings of the workers.

"The democratic platform contains all we asked for. We are satisfied with it. Later on I shall discuss candidates. Labor is to take an active part in the coming campaign."

DUEL ON LAKE BOAT

CHICAGO, July 6.—Passengers on the lake steamer City of Benton Harbor were thrown into a panic this afternoon when one negro pursued another the length of the deck and emptied a revolver into the flying man's body. James Brown and Marshall Cooper, both colored, quarreled in the pantry of the boat. Brown began shooting at Cooper and the latter fled to the deck which was crowded with passengers. Every one ran from the deck to staterooms and Cooper was taken off the boat in a dying condition. Brown was locked up by the Chicago police.

SIGNAL OFFICER PIERCE RECEIVING A MESSAGE FROM GEN. McCLELLAN AT THE ELK MOUNTAIN STATION AFTER THE BATTLE OF ANTIETAM

Son, These Are Your Ancestors

They were real men; they believed in their cause and they laid down their lives to uphold it. In hundreds of thousands they died for love of country. But, my boy, the world has seen enough of war. The rule of steel is ending.

The world is growing saner—there are better ways of expressing patriotism and courage. Enough men have died for love of country. What we want now are men to live for its glory—not to spill their blood in vain, but to send its tide leaping to accomplishment, to upbuilding, to creating, to fortifying national honor. I want you to read every page of this great history of a sad and mighty conflict of brother against brother and keep in your heart and in your mind the lesson that it teaches.

The Long-Lost, Original

Brady War Photographs

With Elson's New History

belong in every home. They are the only real records of a real war. Brady, a pupil of Daguerre and one of the first American photographers, conceived the idea of photographing the Civil War from the first scenes to its sorrowful close. Hardly had the echoes of the fight at Sumter died away than he secured permission from the Government to carry his camera into the lines. With a corps of able assistants, he hurried to all points of activity and not only caught with his wonderful lens the very enlistments themselves, but he photographed as well every Commander, focused his camera upon the armies in action, brought it into the hospitals, the prisons, trained it upon the gunboats, the forts. He was everywhere. He saw everything.

No history can tell you one-tenth as much, for no historian witnessed what Brady's camera saw, no combatant could be everywhere.

Lost for fifty years these magic plates have been discovered in perfect condition and now the world at last knows the real truth of war—the real truth of the greatest of all wars.

CHURCH NEWS

Inaugurate New Educational Campaign.

Acting under direction of the last General assembly, all boards of Presbyterians north have just met and formed a new Department of Missionary Education. There have heretofore been educational systems for the home and foreign boards, while for the most part other boards like the college, freedom and Sunday schools, have gone without. The systems of the two boards named have been worked quite separately, sometimes with overlapping results, in other cases of overlooking of fields.

The Greatest of City Upheavals.

With the approval by the court of last resort of the State of New York of the terms of the subway contractors with New York city there has come the finel blow to church conditions on Manhattan Island, especially Protestant church conditions. Immediately $4,500,000 worth of Protestant church property is offered for sale, and it is known that many more millions will be offered. Indeed, churches to the value of $20,000,000 at least will be forced upon the market within the next year. These churches are not down town. Some of the largest of them are in Hariem, and almost the only part of Manhattan that is little affected is Washington Heights.

Building new subways will be begun in earnest in tne early fall, and a system such as the world never saw before, both in length of miles and cost in money, will result. The affect is, as all agree, to change Manhattan Island from New York's local use, and to turn it over wholly to the use of the world. Such change means complete change in population, and with that change comes, it seems, the necessity for wholesale removal of churches from the island, or else, as is possible in comparatively few instances, liberal endowments that will insure permanency in present locations.

Churches offered for sale include two Methodist, one of them large and prosperous ten years ago; the Orthodox Friend in Gramerey Park; three Baptist, only one of which will rebuild in Manhattan; one Reform, and it among the largest of all; one Lutheran that happens to suffer more than others because in the theatre district; and one Unitarian, that one made famous by the ministry of Henry W. Bellows and the organization within its walls of one of the great sanitary commissions of Civil war period. Churches that will soon be forced upon the market include also Presbyterian and Episcopal, although in the case of the latter strong efforts will be made toward endowment yet to be raised.

New Roofing Material.

Cinder concrete is in favor for roofing, not only because of its substantial character, but because nails may be driven into it. The nails take a good hold and are preserved in place. The material is prepared in eight-foot lengths and, as it may be nailed in place, it is very convenient for roofs of large buildings such as armories, halls and rinks.

Domestic Hints

(From The Scotch-American)

The largest whales give as much as 20 tons of oil.

There are fourteen separate bones in the human nose.

Salt, water and turpentine form a solution which is often used by boxers to harden their hands.

It is asserted that the purest air in cities is found about twenty-five feet above the street surface.

After washing children's frocks a hot iron should never be pressed over the colored embroidery itself, as this is apt to fade the colours and spoil the look of the garment.

An easy way to keep the silver bright is to put a handful of borax in a pan of hot water with a very little soap. Put the silver in this, and let it stand the entire morning. Rinse in clear water, and wipe dry with a soft cloth.

To polish enamelled leather mix two parts of the best cream with one of linseed oil, making each lukewarm in a small pipkin over the fire. The leather must first be thoroughly cleansed from dust, and the polish applied with a sponge.

When the linoleum has been washed and thoroughly dried make a little starch in a pint basin with boiling water and rub lightly over with a clean cloth. It will dry very brightly without any further rubbing or polishing, and has the advantage of being glossy without being slippery.

Often a housekeeper is troubled in trying to take cakes out of tins in which they have been baked. A sure way out of the trouble is to turn the pan upside down and lay on the bottom of it a cloth wrung out in water. After about five minutes the cake can be removed without crumbling to pieces.

Unwelcome Caller.

Two cows were being driven along Causewayend, Aberdeen, Scotland, one recent forenoon, when they ran into a house on Charles street. Before the animals could be ejected, they smashed a quantity of furniture, and one of them put a foot through the floor. The mistress of the house, who was in at the time, suffered a severe shock from the unexpected intrusion on the domestic circle.

Malignant Unbelief. Mark iii:20-35

Golden Text—This is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light because their deeds were evil. John iii:19.

(1.) Verses 20-21—Why did the relatives of Jesus think he was beside himself?

(2) Why does a state of intense rtligious experience still impress the average man as insanity?

(3) If the preachers who are inflicted with empty pews should become intensely spiritual what effect, if any, would that have upon the size of their congregations?

(4) Verse 22—Where is the scene of this lesson laid?

(5) Are Christians who earn their living by teaching religion liable to backslide in their own souls? Give your reasons.

(6) What reason had these scribes to think that Jesus was possessed with the devil and cast out devils by his power?

(7) What is that dangerous and subtle power in human nature which enables a man to believe almost anything in the line of his interests or prejudices?

(8) Verses 23-26—Why may not Satan cast out a small demon in order to make way for a bigger one?

(9) These scribes admitted the fact of Christ's wonderful miracles; why, therefore, and by what power were they performed?

(10) Why is it that so many men, in spite of the fact that Christ's claim is so well established, continue to make such foolish attacks on Christianity?

(11)—

(12) Verse 27—What does Christ propose to do with the devil ("the strong man") in so far as the individual Christian is concerned?

(13) Verses 28-30—In what respect could this sin of the scribes be called a sin against the Holy Ghost?

(14) If a man sins against light, knowledge, and continues to reject the only way of salvation, why is it impossible for him to be forgiven?

(15) As it applies to sinners today, what would you say is the sin against the Holy Ghost which never can be forgiven?

(16.) Verses 31-35—What would you think Christ's brethren and his mother wanted of him?

(17.) If our most loved friends after the flesh want to keep up back from intense spiritual work, what should be our attitude to them?

(18) Which relations are the holier and happier and why, those after the flesh or those after the spirit?

Lesson for Sunday, July 14, 1912. The Seed In the Four Kinds of Soil. Mark iv:1-20.

Wit of Sages, Folly of Clown, Stolen Gems from Humor's Crown.

He Got Out Just in Time

A German shoemaker left the gas turned on in his shop one night and upon arriving in the morning struck a match to light it. There was a terrific explosion, says Everybody's, and the shoemaker was blown out through the door almost to the middle of the street.

A passer-by rushed to his assistance and, after helping him to rise, inquired if he was injured.

The little German gazed in at his place of business, which was now burning quite briskly, and said:

"No, I ain't hurt. But I got out shust in time, eh?"

Emphatically Loyal

The emphasis with which a newly made citizen swore allegiance to the United States of America recently in the clerk's office at the federal building rather startled Deputy Clerk Lewis, but gave him the impression that the n. m. c. really meant what he said, notes the Boston Traveler.

"You formerly bore allegiance to Turkey," said Clerk Lewis to the man as he aswed him to raise his right hand and swear to the statements to which he had subscribed his name.

"Yes," answered the n. m. c., "and now I swear allegiance to the United States. To hell with Turkey."

Up to Father This Time

Inspector James L. Hughes of the Toronto board of education was illustrating the differences in child minds at a lecture before the City club of Chicago.

"I have a little girl whose tastes are strongly mathematical, while her brother has no gift for numbers, but still manages to think quite clearly.

"My daughter was speculating on the degrees of relationship of her two half sisters, Jane and Helen, and on other possible combinations in fractional sisterhood and brotherhood.

"'Papa,' she asked, 'if mother ere to die and you were to marry again and have some more children, what kin would they be to Jane and Helen? Would they be half sisters, too?"

"I had not replied when my small son volunteered an answer after his own kind.

"'I think,' he said, 'if anybody's going to die it's pa's turn this time.'"

Didn't Own the Whole of It

A Scottish game keeper, finding a boy fishing in private waters on his employer's estate, exclaimed:

"You mustn't fish here, my boy! These waters belong to the Earl."

"Do they?" was the response. "I didn't know that." And, laying aside his rod, the youth took up a book and began reading. Then the keeper departed. Returning about an hour afterwards and finding the youth fishing again, he was really angry.

"Do you really understand that this water belongs to the Earl?" he roared.

"Why, you told me that an hour ago!" exclaimed the angler in surprise. "Surely the whole of it doesn't belong to him? His share must have gone by long ago."

Macarthur And The Baptist Alliance

Baptists of the United States will join those of England in the founding of a college to train Baptist ministers of south eastern Europe, where Baptist work is said to be growing apace. The location will be Buda Pesth. The college in St. Petersburg, to be located in a good residence section not far from Government institutions, is now under construction. American Baptists gave $75,000 toward purchase of site and erection of building, and Rev. Dr. Robert S. MacArthur, president of the Baptist World Alliance, will go to Russia early next year to dedicate the college. While on the same trip President MacArthur will conclude plans for the Buda Pesth college, and preside at a European convention of the Alliance, to be held in Stockholm.

Fifty Cities To Be Attacked.

Fifty principal cities, East, Middle West and Coast, will be asked to hold missionary conventions between October and April next. The request is to come from the Laymen's Missionary Movement. These conventions will be like those held in the same cities two or three years ago, and the series will form another missionary campaign. This time, however, the campaign will be for home as well as foreign missions, and the speakers will be of wider range.

Preliminary to the campaign the movement plans two conferences this summer, one at Lake Geneva, July 27 to 31, and the other at Mt. Cretna, August 28 to September 3. The movement is co-operating with the Missionary Education Movement, since it is, as matter of fact, such movement itself. Discussion of consolidation of the two movements is being had. The same men are managing both, and the work is the same. A new plan is a Systematic Givers League, and it is to be inaugurated in as many cities as conventions are held in. It aims to enroll men who give a tenth of their annual incomes to benevolence.

Mahomet and the Mountain.

Mahomet made the people believe that he would call a hill to him and from the top of it offer up his prayers for the observance of his law. The people assembled; Mahomet called the hill to come to him, again and again; and when the hill stood still he was never a whit abashed, but said: "If the hill will not come to Mahomet, Mahomet will go to the hill."—Bacon's Essay "Of Boldness."

Life of the Soil.

The soil may be said to be alive. It is a matrix supporting various groups of definite micro-organisms, and the investigations of the past few years indicate the possibility of determining by bacteriological diagnoses the crop-producing capacities of different soils. It has been shown by the action of nitrifying bacteria, especially in samples of soil, correlates fairly well with the productiveness of the same soils under field conditions. — Harper's Weekly.

APPEALED TO HOTEL CLERK

Fair Guest Applied for Object Not Usually Supplied by Hostelries, but She Got It.

To be a successful hotel clerk you must have an even temper. There is no man under the sun who has so much to try his temper as a hotel clerk. The night clerk of a certain Baltimore hotel is a young man with the most polished manners. He is especially polite to the ladies, but a few evenings ago he nearly lost his equilibrium when a pretty guest asked him to loan her an alarm clock.

"I must get up very early tomorrow morning," said the fair guest; "can't you loan me an alarm clock—one that I can depend on?"

"I will have you called at any hour you wish," replied the clerk.

"That won't do. You might forget it, and besides, I have no watch, and if I wake up during the night I like to know the time."

The clerk suggested that there was a telephone in the room, but that would not do, so he called the housekeeper, who loaned the fair guest an alarm clock.

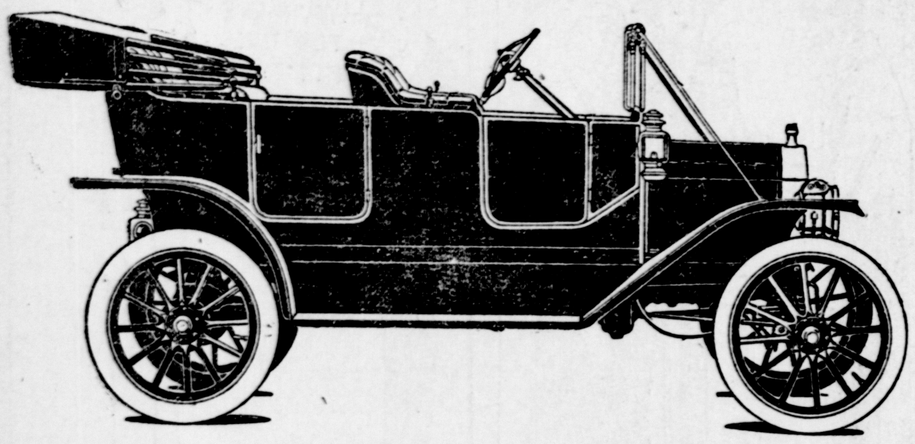

To Keep On in the Old Way.

A fond father who had an unexpected windfall and wanted to do something extra for his son and heir went into a hardware store and inquired the price of bath tubs for babies. He was shown several, and finally selected the only one which he thought good enough for his little paragon. "That," said the salesman, "will cost you $3.75." "Gee Wilikins!" exclaimed the man. "Well, if that's so I guess we'll have to go on washing the kid in the coal scuttle."

Cheap Cleaner.

A bicycle pump is a good substitute for a vacuum cleaner in getting dust from nooks and crannies in marble statuary, plaster casts, carved furniture or any crevices where it may lurk In spite of dust cloth and brush Run the open end of the rubber tubing over the surface to be dusted while working the pump vigorously with the foot. A soft dust cloth will do the rest.

TAFT PLAYS HAMMOND

BEVERLY, Mass., July 6.—Wearing a spacious soft shirt turned up at the sleeves, and down at the collar, a pair of old breeches, and heavy brogans, President Taft, despite the sultry weather, perspired through an 18-hole golf contest early today with John Hays Hammond on the Myopia club links. The president would not tell his aides who won when he returned, but he smiled broadly at his rival as if he had enjoyed the game immensely.

The best thing about an artistic temperament is not to have it in the family.

JOHNSON TO RETIRE

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION SAYS HE WILL RETIRE FROM RING AFTER COMING LABOR DAY

CHICAGO, July 6.—Jack Johnson, heavyweight champion, arrived here today after having enjoyed the limelight of every town between Las Vegas and Chicago. News that Johnson was coming traveled ahead of his train, and crowds were out at the station to see the pugilist.

The champion said he believed Curley made a little money out of the fight. Johnson's share, he said amounted to $36,000. Of this $5,000 was won on a wager. The champion said that his wife had won $6,000 also. "I don't care if I never see another boxing glove," said Johnson. "I will continue to meet white hopes, however, until Labor Day. Palzer and the rest will have to meet me before then, because I am going to retire on that day."

ATHLETES WIN FROM GALESVILLE 2 TO 1

The Athletes handed the Galesville club a defeat Thursday when these teams met at Galesville, the local aggregation beating their opponents by a 2 to 1 count.

The game was close and interesting at all stages, Fuchsel on the slab for the Athletes, pitching wonderful ball and letting down Galesville with but six hits. In addition to this he fanned eight men. The Athletes solved Betzel's delivery for seven bingles.

The Athletes made both their runs in the fourth on a hit and an error. Fuchsel shut out Galesville up to the seventh when they made their only tally on an error.

Fuchsel and Johnson were the battery for the Athletes while Betzel was on the mound for Galesville and Kutchera did the backstopping.

Tomorrow afternoon the Athletes will stage a double header at League park with Bangor and Onalaska as their opponents. The first game will start at 2:30 o'clock. Walters and Fuchsel will do the pitching for the Athletes in the double bill while Christopherson will toe the slab for Onalaska and Stintzi is the probable pitcher for Bangor.

First Contest in Javelin Throwing; 100 Meter Dash Expected to Be Won by America

STOCKHOLM, July 6.—J. Ira Courtney, of the Seattle Athletic association, won his heat in the 100 meter dash, marking the first victory of the day for the Americans.

Clement P. Wilson, Coe college, Iowa, also qualified in his heat for the 100 meter dash.

Alvah T. Meyer of the Irish-American Athletic club, won his heat in the preliminary 100 meter dash.

STOCKHOLM, July 6.—There was a pistol shot in the stadium at 11 a. m. today and the International Olympic games formally were opened. The contests were scheduled for two weeks. From the royal box at one end of the enclosure King Gustav personally greeted the three thousand athletes as they marched past him, five bands enlivening the procession with a medley of national airs. Twenty-six nations were represented, and the Americans had fourth place in the line of march, yielding precedence through courtesy to the Scandinavians.

The initial contest was the javelin throwing, five nations competing. While this was on, the heralds announced the first twenty-one heats of the 100 meter dash. The finals of this race will be run off tomorrow and the Americans were certain that they would cinch the victory either with Clement P. Wilson of Coe college, Iowa, or Howard P. Drew, the negro runner of the Springfield, Mass., high school.

The Yankees most feared Patching, a sprinter from South Africa.

The opening of the games was witnessed by a crowd of 60,000 people, the majority of the foreign visitors being Americans.

STRICT RULES FOR GRAIN SHIPMENT

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Finding that there are gross violations of the law in the operations of railroad transit facilities, particularly in the substitution on transit of one kind of grain for another, the interstate commerce commission today laid down a series of rules to correct the evil.

The new orders require that the railroads shall establish rules which positively identify shipments, and shall file exact statement covering every phase of the milling in transit privilege.

It was alleged in the hearings on the transit privilege that its latitude practically permitted returns to shippers tantamount to rebates, particularly where a grain taking a high freight rate was substituted for grain shipments of a lower rate.

PREDICT ROYALIST INVASION

MADRID, July 6.—Several newspapers today predicted that there would be a royalist invasion of Portugal tomorrow by sympathizers with ex-King Manuel. It was also reported that the Lisbon authorities had nipped a republican conspiracy, the purpose of which was to banish the president, and replace him with Alfonso Costa, former minister of justice.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Gabby Cravath, the Philly lean-up man, hit two doubles and a pair of singles in five times up.

Stubby McInnis and "three hits" seem inseparable. One of his three was a triple.

Matty had his revenge on the Dodgers. He not only let them down with five hits, but made a hit, stole a base and scored a run.

James Callahan cannot resist the temptation to show his White Sox how to shoot. Two triples and a single form a sterling example.

The Pirates lammed Humphreys for fourteen safe ones.

This Speaker stole twice on Lapp. McBride, the Senators' shortstop, erred on four of his fifteen chances.
